I Get A Kick Out Of Shoes

I now own a pair of custom shoes. No, they weren't made by John Lobb, but by Bendow, a young Los Angeles artist who works in several media.

In this case the medium is ink on canvas, with fanatical attention paid to each tiny, witty drawing (click on the photo for a closeup).

The obsessive detail extends to rebranding the famous name at the back.

Even the box gets customized. The "Est. 1992" is an amusing touch.

ABOUT THE AUTHORESS

GLAMOURBRAIN

Adores beauty, brains and random acts of poetry. Obsessed with words, data, the evanescent and vintage everything. Paid to think, write, persuade, teach and create. A pop culture diva who's been featured on Jeopardy, in Playboy, on Oprah... Not the person in the photograph. That's Ava Gardner. But there's a resemblance. Email: [glamourbrainblog\[at\]gmail\[dot\]com](mailto:glamourbrainblog[at]gmail[dot]com).

LOVE the shoes!

Bendow is the son of one of my good friends. We were pregnant together.

If you don't mind, I linked to your post via my Livejournal titled Got Art.
